Intimidation, censorship alleged in school suit

By RICH ADAMS

Allegations of several instances of intimidation, censorship, and violations of civil and constitutional rights of school patrons of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District are laid out in a document filed this week in Southern Division of the U.S. District Court, Southern District.

The allegations are laid against the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board and Superintendent J. D. McCullough by the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization, the Bay St.

Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, and several school patrons in a document entitled 'Plaintiffs' Answers to Defendants' First Interrogatories to Plaintiffs.'

The document, filed in Biloxi Monday by plaintiffs' attorney Gerald Blessey, is part of a continuing court battle which began in September when the plaintiffs filed a suit against the board and McCullough, asking $20,000 in punitive damages, plaintiffs stipulating that money is to be used for air conditioning at the system's schools.

In the 40-page 'Answer,' the plaintiffs spell out each case of alleged violations one-by-one, as requested in an interrogatory filed in court last month by the defendants.

This most recent document does not name each member of the PTO or Local AFT as requested in the interrogatory, claiming divulgence of this information "would violate the Plaintiffs' rights to free assembly and free speech as guaranteed by the First Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

The answer, however, states that the PTO and AFT held separate meetings and conducted a vote to determine whether to file the suit.

"The authorization to file this suit was obtained at a meeting of the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi on May 29, 1979 at the Library Meeting Room of the Bay St. Louis Public Library," the document reads.

"Of the membership present and voting, the vote was unanimously in favor of filing the suit, with none opposed. The total number of members at that time was twenty-three (23). The Minutes of that meeting are in a safety deposit box at the Merchants Bank in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi," the document continues.

The local AFT states it met on May 23, 1979 when a unanimous vote was cast in favor of filing the suit.

The most recent document also fails to answer the defendants' question as to whether PTO funds are being used as attorney fees.

In the "initial suit, the plaintiffs alleged that they were refused a slot on the agenda of regular board meetings due to either guidelines of the board's controversial Policy 18 or the board's policy of not recognizing organizations such as teachers' unions or parent-teacher groups.

The answer filed Monday lists 19 individual cases in which the board allegedly refused patrons a slot on the agenda.

Board remains hesitant on Coastal Management

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors this week conditionally accepted a controversial Coastal Zone Management plan two days before a Nov. 15 deadline.

Also this week and prior to another Thursday deadline, the board authorized the drafting of legislation establishing a Hancock County Sewer District.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission met jointly with the County Board of Supervisors and unanimously passed a conditional assent to the Coastal Zone Management House Bill 974 (CZM).

Hancock County cast the deciding vote for CZM after Board President Dolph Kellar received a call, during CZM discussion, informing him that the Harrison County Board of Supervisors had just accepted a similar conditional agreement for CZM. Jackson County had previously accepted the bill as initially written.

The assent, or agreement, to CZM is conditioned upon the following resolution and order by the joint Hancock bodies:

"A resolution and order of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission authorizing the president and secretary of such commission to enter into an inter-agency agreement between it, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors, and the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife Conservation; recommending to the Hancock County Board of Supervisors that it assent to the inclusion of activity defined as "regulated activity" under Chapter 492, Laws of Mississippi, 1979, and for related purposes."

Hancock County's approval of CZM would be, in effect, null and void if state officials would not recognize the conditions of assent to the bill.

Board Attorney Walter Gex stated, "If the CZM people don't accept this resolution of conditional assent the issue is dead and they're responsible for this action."

"It is easy to say the assent is definite but there is the possibility that someone will take the opposite view and assume we're under all the regulations of House Bill 972," Gex explained.

Bureau of Marine Resources (BMR) Director Dr. Richard Leard reinforced the agreement stating, "The Federal Director of State Programs Bill Matuszeski recognizes the intent of the county that agreement is part of the ratification of CZM and if there is no agreement locally the BMR views ratification as being terminated."

Commission Attorney John Genin said, "I basically like the agreement. It gives the County Board of Supervisors the last say-so as to whether we'll come under CZM or not."

Leard commented, "BMR likes the agreement and we want to be a partner in managing and conserving waterfront sites."

The County Board of Supervisors also unanimously approved a resolution requesting the county representative to the legislature draft legislation for a Hancock County Sewer District.

The resolution, based upon Waveland's endorsement of a county sewer district last week, does not oppose the Gulf Coast Regional Waste Water Commission (GCRWWC).

Supervisor James Travira voiced his opposition to GCRWWC but Gex and several board members voted against opposing the commission.

A presentation of a Votomatic voting machine was made to the board by Sales Representative Skip Stanley of Computer Election Systems (CES).

Lucien Gex hired to represent board

By RICH ADAMS

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Monday, faced with a $20,000 lawsuit filed by the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization, hired Board Attorney Lucien Gex to represent the board in the case.

The decision to hire Gex at a rate of $45 per hour plus expenses came Monday night following a 55-minute executive session when the public was banned from the board room at Bay St.

Louis Senior High School.

Board Member Walter Turcotte made the motion that the board hire Gex, which was seconded by James Ginn and approved unanimously.

The school board and Superintendent J.D. McCullough are accused of violating the PTO's civil and constitutional rights, and the PTO is asking $20,000 in punitive damages.

Bay board buys 'mystery' item

By RICH ADAMS

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board Monday authorized expenditure of $354 for a piece of athletic equipment, not knowing for certain what the equipment is or how it functions.

The board received a bid from Sportsman's Corner in Gulfport for a 'Sportsplay' costing $354.

Superintendent J.D. McCullough said he does not know exactly what the equipment is used for, but added all the physical education instructors at Bay St. Louis Senior High School endorsed the product highly.

None of the school board members present, nor the school administrators, knew what the equipment is used for.

The superintendent referred to the Sportsplay as a "multi-purpose machine used for volleyball and basketball."

Board President Virginia Gex said the athletic department requested the equipment, and McCullough added the purchase is within school budget.

Board Member Betty Diboll made a motion to purchase the Sportsplay,

MYSTERY- Page 10A

RECOVERED AUTOMOBILE-Hancock County and Waveland law enforcement officials Wednesday morning recovered a submerged stolen convertible from a pond off the Kiln-Waveland Cutoff Road in Waveland. The car had been stolen three weeks earlier from Trapani's Knock-Knock Lounge parking lot on US-90, nearly a mile from where the automobile was recovered. The car is owned by Tommy Kidd of Waveland. Hancock County prison trustee Garrett Allen Ford dove into the small pond to hook a chain to the steering wheel of the vehicle, which was spotted in the water Tuesday night by Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Willy Harrington. Assisting in the recovery operations are, from left, jail trusty Darryl Smith, Deputy Delbert Sany, Bill Ereland, who owns land adjacent to the pond; Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., Deputy Dennis Tarravouille, Harrington, an unidentified Waveland policeman, and wrecker operator Mike Pernicelli. (Staff photo-Rich Adams)

Bay Council holds emergency meeting

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett called an emergency meeting of the City Council Wednesday evening to discuss problems existing on Washington Street.

Mayor Bennett was approached by several residents of the area who requested help in making the street passable for emergency vehicles.

Approximately 600 feet of the road has been removed for the installation of a sewer system.

The mayor was authorized by the Council unanimously to spend up to $1,800 of street maintenance money for the purchase of base material.

He was also check with a Hancock County Supervisor who had indicated he would help in the restoration of the road after the sewer project was completed.

Joe Brown III, engineer for the project, was asked by the Council to submit an estimate on the amount of base fill materials that will be necessary for the entire project.

Brown is to have the information for the Council's meeting Tuesday night.

Bay St. Louis man found dead in home

A Bay St. Louis man was found dead in the kitchen of his St. John Street home yesterday morning.

County Coroner Carl Banderet, at the scene, estimated that Joseph Barbo died at an undetermined time Monday because of the latest newspaper found by the man's body.

Banderet stated that the cause of death was apparently from natural causes, due to a cardiac complication, based on the man's prior medical history.

A neighbor, August Santinelli, called Barbo's daughter, Helen Mallini, when he noticed a kitchen light had been on constantly for about two days.

Mallini arrived, found her father and called Edmund Fahey at Edmund Fahey Funeral Home. Fahey notified the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, who then called the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

The Bay St. Louis Police Department investigated the incident.

Landsat conference includes NSTL tour

NASA National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County is hosting a Landsat-Geobased Information Symposium at the Biloxi Hilton through today.

Sponsored by NSTL-Earth Resources Laboratories, Regional application Program, the conference is designed to provide an opportunity for exchange of ideas and information between persons involved in the development of Landsat analysis systems and associated natural resource data bases.

Talks describing activity in each of the 17 southern and lower midwestern states in the NSTL technology transfer region are being presented.

A number of commercial exhibitors are attending to discuss their services. Industry representatives are discussing industry's capability and contribution in remote sensing systems technology for state uses.

Consultation sessions, providing an opportunity for individuals to discuss particular problems with specialists in various remote sensing technical areas, are being made available.

Conference participants will also visit NSTL here for a first hand view of the Landsat Data System at work.

A tour of the installation's space-based shuttle test complex will also give the group a close-up look at the space shuttle engine test program underway at the Center.

NASA launched Landsat in July, 1972 the first in a series of satellites with a mission to survey the earth in an effort to solve every day problems.

Each Landsat satellite flies in a circular orbit 570 miles above the earth's surface, covering the entire globe with repetitive coverage every 18 days.

The satellites carry three data acquisition systems: a multi-spectrum scanner which requires images on four spectral bands; a return beam videom or television system; and a data collection system to relay environmental data from ground based collection platforms.

In addition to NSTL, other NASA regional remote sensing applications data are Ames Research Center.

JANE FONDA ON ETV-Jane Fonda is the subject of a one-hour special program at 11 p.m., Saturday, November 17, on the Mississippi ETV Network. "Jane Fonda" profiles the famous actress-activist from her early childhood through her antiwar activities of the 1960's to the filming of "Julia" and "Coming Home." A September 1979 interview with her by her father, Henry Fonda, concludes the program.

ASSET IN WETLANDS
This admittedly may be a psychologically bad year for an article on Mississippi's assets in wetlands.

But the Easter flood and record annual rainfall notwithstanding, the fact remains that this is no time for Mississippians to be un-mindful of a building water shortage across this land that shortly will test our capacity to weigh values with far-reaching effects.

Already planners in the arid western region have blueprints up for consideration toward diverting Mississippi River streamflow to the West to fill needs there created by constantly growing, artificially supported, environments for homes, industries and agriculture.

This comes at a time that Mississippi has been up to the tops of her hipboots in seasonal water, yet soon and in the years ahead this state must face up to some critical questions concerning water management and wetlands.

A recent interagency report by the U.S. government spells out what wetlands are and mean to this nation in a well done booklet entitled OUR NATION'S WETLANDS.

Wetlands are defined as areas flooded or saturated by surface water to a degree that creates vegetation adapted to wet soil conditions—like swamps, marshes, and bogs.

Mississippi agriculture has largely been made possible by the clearing of forestlands in pioneer days and subsequently draining the delta and bottomlands to adapt farmlands to the most profitable crop requirements. And government policy, until recently, has generally supported this idea with technical assistance to farmers and other landowners.

In recent years environmentalists and the government itself have questioned "how far is too far?" in that direction, and the role of water and water saturated wetlands has been reexamined in light of a growing national water scarcity and environmental balances.

The touchy question constantly is raised now of who is master of the land—the owner of the land or the state and national governments which oversee for the welfare of all? That question seems to have been answered by President Carter in a 1977 executive order which declared that the nation's coastal and inland wetlands are vital natural resources of critical importance to the people of this country.

Wetlands, he said are areas of great natural productivity, hydrological utility, and environmental diversity, providing natural food control, improved water quality, recharge of aquifers, flow stabilization of streams and rivers, and habitat for fish and wildlife resources.

Wetlands contribute to the production of agricultural products and timber, and provide recreational, scientific and aesthetic resources of national interest, he added, and the unwise use will destroy many natural functions.

Government estimates point out that the U.S. already has lost over 40 percent of the nation's 120 million acres of wetlands inventoried in the 1950's through draining, dredging, filling and other means. And in Mississippi, a 1969 study of the Mississippi Delta area shows that cropland increased from 41 percent to 57 percent since 1950 while forestland decreased from 48 percent to 31 percent as 200,000 acres of bottomland forests were cleared annually for agricultural production.

Wetlands of the future are certain to provide proper as well as painful questions whose answers are important to all.

Home Economist advises:

Buymanship, common sense equals shopping shrewdness

By Shirley G. Robinson

To squeeze the dollar for all its worth as it passes through your hands, you must apply every bit of shopping wisdom you can muster. A careless shopper loses 12 to 14 percent of potential buying power.

Learn all you can about the fundamentals of buying. The application of buymanship guidelines, coupled with common sense and direct market place experience, equals shopping shrewdness.

Block that impulse. Plan purchase for present future requirements. Discuss major purchases with family members. Anticipate needs. Consider alternatives and the advantages of specials.

Take your shopping list, marked ads, cents off coupons, notes on sizes, requirements and comparative prices. Don't shop when tired, disturbed, hurried or hungry.

Figure out the true cost. The sales tag prices does not include the cost of credit or the service or lack of it you'll receive, or how much you'll get from the item.

To work out the true cost, you must decide the best quality or size for the money. To avoid waste, consider pull or expiration dates in food and style and durability in clothing and home furnishings.

Simple "no frills" saves the cost of special packaging. "Free" offers are built into the purchase price. Trading stamps and other premiums are examples.

Simple credit that allows 25 to 90 days with no interest charges may permit you to avoid credit costs. If your comparative shopping shows no interest built into the item you're buying, there is no additional cost. If an item has been marked down 10 percent and you pay 18 percent on a revolving credit account, you will soon cancel any potential savings.

Buy at the right time. Timing is always a prime factor in shopping for advertised specials. For instance, the first big day of sales may provide better selections; the last day may offer better prices.

The day after Christmas is the best time to buy Christmas items drastically reduced if you have storage space to keep them until next Christmas. Check out your buying calendar for best buys of goods and services.

Summer and dead winter are good times for bargains. Sales people have more time to help in mid-morning.

Buy at the right place. If price is your primary concern, call and check prices. Check and recheck at specialty shops, thrift stores and discount houses. The same item with the same manufacturer's warranty carry a different price tag at various places.

Check the ads. Look for facts about prices, size and quality. Mail order catalogues are helpful in comparative shopping.

Know good quality. Be well informed. Study and practice to learn how to judge good quality. Consider price, purpose, workmanship, durability, style and color coordination. Sometimes seconds, irregulars or used items may meet your price and purpose.

Check the label. Labels and manufacturer's operating instructions will give you clues to values, quality, true cost and durability. Cleaning-laundry instructions on clothing labels enable you to figure the care cost of an item. Seals and independent test labs and manufacturing associations can tell you whether a product meets certain safety and manufacturing standards.

Select reliable dealers. It's important to know the dealer will make good on a product that proves defective, that he

Contingent Fees Help Consumer

Obtain Legal Justice

By Theodore I. Koskoff

President
Association of Trial Lawyers of America

In the United States, each individual has a Constitutional right to legal justice, or their day in court. However, at one time only wealthy and privileged people could afford to resolve their disputes in court.

But today, any person who is injured by someone else's carelessness or by a defective product—can get high quality legal representation on a contingent fee basis. Under the contingent fee arrangement, the lawyer is entitled to a fee only if he or she is successful in the case and secures a monetary award for the client.

The lawyer is then entitled to a set percentage of it.

But if there is not a successful settlement or verdict from a trial, the trial lawyer gets nothing in return for the time, effort and expenses spent in preparing and trying the case. A lawyer's expenses may be high in obtaining expert witnesses who will testify on complex medical and technical questions.

The amount of the contingent fee, between 25 and 40 percent and usually 33 1/2 percent, is determined in advance between the lawyer and the client and should always be written into their contract.

In a case involving personal injury, the client has the option of hiring a lawyer on an hourly basis, usually at $75 - $100 an hour or higher depending on the lawyer's experience and reputation, or on a contingent fee basis. Thus, for most people, the contingent fee arrangement is the best financially.

However, contingent fees can not be used in all legal actions. They are not permitted in criminal cases, divorce cases or legislative representative work. They are most often used in personal injury cases, certain business and estate disputes and tax matters.

More and more a contingent fee arrangement is being used in class action suits brought by a lawyer on behalf of a group of people instead of just one individual. Modern technology has brought us a wealth of products and services to make our life easier and more comfortable. But our better standard of living has also brought us a proliferation of hazards and personal injuries.

The possibility of legal action helps encourage manufacturers to make safer products, to adequately inform consumers of product dangers and to recall products to correct defects that can hurt people.

Unhappily, people do get injured, and they are entitled to their day in court. Fortunately, with a choice of hiring a lawyer on a contingent fee basis, they know they can get the personal legal attention they need without the worry of financial ruin. And that is an essential consumer right.

CHECK OFFER WITH CARE

Your home has been for sale, inspected and the latest enthusiastic prospect presents you with an "offer" to buy. Review this offer with care. It's an extremely important part of the sale.

Are all names correct? Is the property correctly described? Is the mortgage information accurate? Can you move by the possession date? Is the purchase price satisfactory? Then double check your calculations to be sure you know how much cash you will receive. If you have any doubts about points contained in the offer do not sign it until they have been completely removed from your mind.

The offer to purchase is binding on the purchaser for the amount of time stated in the offer. You can accept it without change. You can let it expire, or you can consider changes. If you change anything in the offer you are reversing the process and making an "offer to sell" to purchaser who then has the same options.

Before you sign, be certain that it clearly states all the points of agreement because the sale will be according to the letter of that script.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Dangerous Highway - you drive at the risk of death!

Those of you brave enough to drive State Highway 603 from the US-90 to I-10 intersection have probably been using the most dangerous section of highway in Mississippi and not realizing the danger.

There is not one sign warning of low shoulders, yet there is almost a continuous low shoulder as much as six inches or more and a straight drop.

We have observed on other highways that when a low shoulder exists signs are erected to warn motorists - but unless they are invisible, there weren't any on Tuesday morning of this week.

Now this is not a condition which has developed over night, it is something that has been around for sometime.

Several years ago, right after Hurricane Camille, the shoulders were redone north of Interstate on Highway 603, but they just forgot about the southern part.

The many of you who use Highway 603 are all aware of the many curves, and especially at some of the danger of someone dropping off the low shoulder and ending up in a ditch or wrapped around a pine tree.

Someone has told us that some of the low shoulders were caused by the waters of Camille going over the road, well that is possible, but that has been 10 years ago.

It is our understanding that the State Highway Department should have inspectors or someone to ride over the roads and check their conditions.

Maybe they got tired on their inspection and forgot about the southern part of 603 and went back home down I-10.

The thing which really concerns us is the fact that there is much more traffic south on 603 than north of I-10.

If it would just be a few areas where the shoulder is low, we could say maybe the recent rains washed it out, but there are miles and miles of low shoulders.

All we have to say is this, someone or many have been derelict in their duty.

Bits 'n pieces

One of our subscribers called us Tuesday morning rather excited to say there were two goats in her yard.

When she attempted to chase them, one was rather brave and did not want to leave the choice flower bed grazing. Now we have read several times an ordinance in Bay St. Louis about livestock, and have the impression that Billy goats come under that variety of animals, and just wonder how their existence within the City limits is permitted.

On the other side of the coin, as kids growing up in Waveland, we always had one or two goats for pets.

We have to compliment the many of you who appeared at the Courthouse for the Annual Veterans Day ceremonies.

The students, bands, marching groups and all who were part of the band should be commended.

We are proud to be the part of a Community which still recognizes our veterans on Veterans Day. The commander and members of American Legion Post No. 139, sponsors of the annual parade, the special guest speaker, Walter James Phillips, should all be commended on being good Americans.

Normally we stick strictly to the local scene, but events in this Country by students from Iran and the happenings over there have prompted us to comment.

The United States is doing a favor by letting the students from Iran use our universities and colleges to become educated. Now we also realize most of them are paying for the education, but, we also feel that they must act as sensible people in this Country.

If they want to cause riots by marching, etc., we should let them march, as a matter of fact, urge them to march, right back to where they came from, Iran.

MISSISSIPPI ECONOMIC COUNCIL -
THE STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A variety of important issues—all vital to the well being of present and future Mississippi—will face legislators and other public officials when they assume their duties in January.

And in order to inform this state's leaders of some of these problems and solutions, the Mississippi Economic Council will hold a series of Legislative Forums in five geographical areas of the state. They are scheduled for November 27 in Jackson, November 28 in Greenwood, November 29 in Tupelo, December 4 in Biloxi, and December 5 in Hattiesburg.

These Forums, traditional events sponsored by MEC with each new state administration, invite discussion, debate, and information exchange between the state's business and professional leadership and governmental leaders.

Subject areas to be discussed include the state's business climate, county government, state government, education, taxation, and highway finance.

Members of the Mississippi Legislature, other elected and appointed state and local officials, media representatives, members of MEC, members of local chambers of commerce, and interested citizens are invited and encouraged to attend.

Washington report

CARTER VERSUS SHIPS

By Congressman
Trent Lott
5th District, Mississippi

Doubts about America's military strength are compounded by statistics showing the dwindling number of ships in our Navy's fleet and the failure of President Carter, himself a former Navy man, to urge its rebuilding. The President seemingly has chosen instead to urge the fleet's systematic dismantling.

A report in the current "Armed Forces Journal" suggests that the Navy has lost $30 billion in its shipbuilding program because of President Carter's reduction of the strong goals of his predecessors.

What has happened to our fleet? At the height of the Viet Nam war, the U.S. had 900 active ships in its Navy. That number has slipped to a force level hovering around 465 active ships, the lowest since pre-World War II. And, a great number of these ships are not even capable of operating in high threat areas.

When President Ford left office, his five-year shipbuilding program called for 157 ships to be built, 36 of which would have been funded in the fiscal year 1980 budget.

President Carter has wasted no time in whittling down that program. His current five-year plan (FY '80-84) includes a total of 67 new ships or about 13 per year. His revised five-year plan for FY '81-85 reportedly calls for only 46 new ships or only about nine per year. These numbers fall far short of the Navy's needs.

That's why I am pleased that the Congress has taken steps to amend the President's inadequate request for ships in the current Defense Appropriations Bill. Two ships already have been added to his meager budget which originally included only 10 ships. The budget now includes $2 billion for construction of a nuclear carrier the President previously had opposed. This is good news.

A Library of Congress study commissioned in May by Rep. Jack Edwards, R-Ala., found that just to maintain our Navy at its current level until the year 2000 would require building 400 ships at an annual cost of about $7 to $8 billion. This compares with the current average annual shipbuilding appropriation of $5.6 billion.

As it is, we are moving closer to maintaining a two-ocean Navy than three, with only five ships assigned to permanent duty in the Indian Ocean and the Persian Gulf. Faced with a crisis in that area, our strength would become even more fragmented.

Our nation is a sea power, or we should be. Our dependence on the sea has continued to grow as we have become more involved in the world economy. Yet, as our dependence on the sea has increased, our ability to control the sea lanes has come under increasing challenge.

In the absence of leadership from President Carter, I will urge the Congress to authorize and fund more necessary ships during the next years to insure that vital shipping lanes are protected. We must act to provide a reasonable program that will set the stage for essential improvements in the American defense posture.

I-10 Hospitality Center

dedication slated in January

November 13, 1979

Ellis Cuevas, editor
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

In Sunday, November 11, 1979 issue of the Sea Coast Echo, I read in "Bits 'N Pieces," your statement concerning the Hospitality Station at the intersection of I-10 and Highway 607.

On behalf of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, I would like to bring you and all the readers of the Echo up-to-date on the progress of the Welcome Center.

Projected completion of the Welcome Center is the end of December. A grand opening will be held in January, 1980, with everything completed except for landscaping.

This facility promises to be the finest in Mississippi, and perhaps in the entire South.

The Welcome Center will be under the jurisdiction of the Mississippi A & I Board.

Over a period of many years, the Welcome Center has been the subject at Chambers of Commerce meetings along the Mississippi Gulf Coast. As recently as last week, a meeting was held concerning the wording of the signs.

We are pleased to let you know the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has stayed actively involved in this project.

When the grand opening occurs, it is the hope of this Chamber that many vehicles will be diverted from I-10 and take the scenic route—"Hospitality Highway 90."

The 1979 directors salute all who worked so diligently on this project.

Yours very truly,
Milford Lady

Trent Lott is proven

friend of Senior Citizen

November 7, 1979

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

To The Editor:

This senior citizen is happy that he has supported U.S. Representative Trent Lott since he first ran for public office and looks forward to the day when we can vote this true statesman into the White House.

I have known Mr. R.J. Caire of Pass Christian for many years and believe his attack on Lott is simply a bid for publicity and personal gain. Senior citizens in Bay St. Louis who have had to seek Trent Lott's help know he will go all out and fight for our rights.

In my case, I was unable to collect any Social Security benefits due me even after nine months of trips to Gulfport, filling out forms and numerous letters to headquarters—I had given up on the local offices.

It took Trent Lott only three weeks to discover that Social Security had figured my benefits erroneously, that I was due about $100 more monthly and that I didn't owe certain money as claimed.

Incidentally, when Social Security says you owe them money, they also say you have a right to appeal which I did but was completely ignored despite a barrage of letters to headquarters.

I finally talked to Ms. Rosine Jushaway, program specialist in the local Senior Citizens office, who studied my file and called Trent Lott's Office.

It took the proverbial Act of Congress but within three weeks I received my money with a letter of apology from the Social Security computer.

Meantime I received several calls from Trent Lott's office telling of progress being made. I know of many other similar Senior Citizen cases handled successfully and promptly by Trent Lott's office.

Can this be the same man Ronny Caire has promised that senior citizens are going to remove from office?

I tried to reason with Ronnie recently but he is angry because his rent was increased and Trent Lott didn't do anything about it!

Ronnie, this kind of publicity is not going to sell your book.

Community shows in 'big way' for Special Olympics fish fry

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

On Nov. 2 this community showed up in a very big way for its Special Olympics at a fish fry at Bay Senior High School.

There are so many people to thank that the list is almost limitless.

To the food suppliers, paper products company, frozen foods business, soft drink company, cafeteria workers, janitorial staff, regular classroom teachers, and all administrators goes a thank you from all of us in special education and our students who will participate in Special Olympics.

Also, to Winn Dixie, Jitney Jungle, A&P, and National Food Stores, we appreciate your donations.

A very special thanks goes to Mr. Frank Ladner for the idea, for catching the fish, for cooking it, and for coordinating the entire event.

Along with him there was also Mr. W. Gavigne, Mr. Sam Pernicaro, and Mr.

Mike Necaise.

Also, to Mrs. Vivian Blaize, Mrs. Betty Jerrell, Mrs. Lillian Carver, Mrs. Anna May Lafonts, Mrs. Becky Godwin, and Mrs. Val Littles at the Bay High Cafeteria - we are most grateful.

Without the Bay High Honor Society our ticket sales could have never been as successful. Through their hard work and careful planning "honor" status was well deserved by all.

And with equal appreciation to a Community that gives and gives and goes on giving we say how thankful we are to be among all of you.

Truly, without the people in this area nothing would succeed. We appreciate you and yours. As our Special Olympics participate the will always strive to represent you in the manner which you deserve.

Respectfully yours,
(Mrs.) B. Scalfidi

Tractor Deaths

Are Numerous

Reports of tragic tractor accidents continue to surface in newspapers across the state. Farm tractor deaths are common and the most numerous of any single cause of accidental death on the farm, says Dannie Reed, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service farm safety specialist. Fifteen deaths in 1978 in Mississippi may seem few but, looking at the small number of people who spend many work hours on tractors, these deaths point to a hazardous situation.

Tractor operation is categorized as a hazardous task by the U.S. Department of Labor. This is overshadowed by the familiarity that farmers have with tractor work, says Reed. Familiarity and experience breed a false sense of safety and confidence which can lead to an unexpected overturn or fall from the tractor by an operator who is not convinced of the dangers of operating farm tractors.

"Encourage your farm friends and neighbors to refresh their knowledge of safe operation of tractors. Even though it may be a simple lesson, it is vitally important," he adds.

A special cultural treat was offered the Latin and French students of Bay Senior High recently when they attended a New Orleans Opera Association performance of Madame Butterfly.

Approximately 40 students, young ladies mostly in long gowns and young men in coats and ties, attended the Opera.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allison, also teachers at Bay High, assisted Mrs. deMontluzin on the trip.

Young Christmas Seal Artists Worry About Energy Supply

They turn out lights. Ride their bikes more. And try to remember to close the refrigerator door.

The 54 children whose paintings appear on the American Lung Association's 1979 Christmas Seals are concerned about the energy situation.

"I really don't understand everything," says Kristen Fifield of Maine, "but I know it will change my future and it scares me."

Brief

SAFETY FIRST

Don't let safety get lost in the shuffle during the hectic harvest season. This is a prime time for farm accidents, but following a few simple safety rules may prevent a serious accident in your operation.

First, replace PTO shaft guards and other shields to prevent entanglement in power shafts and other moving parts.

Also, shut off the power before servicing harvesting heads, cutters or other machinery parts. Be sure to cut off the power before entering the combine grain tank.

Sunday 9-1:30

It's soup time - and what is nicer on a November day than a steaming, savory soup? Hearty, filling soups are as much a part of the Irish cuisine as that good old Irish whiskey... and some of the best of the Irish soups, as is the case in most other countries, really aren't made according to exact recipes at all, but are often the result of the cook's resourceful combining of odds and ends from the refrigerator with whatever seasonings lurk therein.

A favorite of mine, from an old family recipe which, I'm told, crossed the waters along with my ancestors when they left the Auld Sod for the New World, is made with that special star of Irish cooking - the Irish potato. It's:

IRISH POTATO SOUP

2 Tbsp butter or margarine
2 med. onions, thin-sliced
3 lg potatoes, peeled
5 cups milk
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 bunch parsley, tied together
1 cup evaporated milk (or half and half)
Dash of mace
Chopped chives or green onions for garnish
Melt the butter in a heavy saucepan, add the onions and potatoes, stirring them around in the butter, and softening them over low heat for several minutes, but don't let them brown, whatever you do - it will spoil the bland flavor you want for this dish.

Next, add the other ingredients, except for the canned milk and the chives, which you'll add at the last minute.

Simmer for 30 minutes or more, till potatoes are soft. Discard the thyme, bay leaf, and parsley, and strain the soup through a sieve or blend or mash well. Then reheat in another pan.

Toss a bit of the canned milk and chopped chives into each soup bowl, and pour the hot soup over - or trot out great-grandmother's soup tureen, pour in the soup and scatter the chives over.

P.S. I had to change the recipe a bit, as several times great-grandmother's old Irish recipe calls for a cup of good cream "fresh from the cow" on the old homestead - but the canned milk or half and half blends well.
Variation on the theme - added by my Cajun husband - add to the soup while cooking a chopped rib of celery and a chopped green (bell) pepper, and a small red pepper.

Hancock, state libraries below national standards

BY RICH ADAMS

The Hancock County Public Library system falls short of meeting the national standard for number of books per capita, according to Library Director Prima Wuznac, but is above national average in periodical subscription.

A recent statistical report released by the Mississippi Library Association revealed that public libraries in the state fall nearly two million books short of meeting the national standard of two-to-four-books per capita.

Ms. Wuznac said Monday Hancock County's Public Library system, comprised of the Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Kiln branches, own 38,980 books, or 2.24 books per capita for a population figured at 17,387 persons.

The population estimates, she pointed out, are based on 1970 census figures.

Ms. Wuznac said periodical subscriptions are above the national standards, the library subscribing to 77 magazines for the 17,387 population.

Ms. Wuznac said legislation will come before state government this year requesting "catch-up" funds to lift the libraries to national standards.

"The issue has come before the legislature in the past, and each year it picks up more and more support," the library director said.

"If the legislation is passed this year, we can get about $18,000. That will fill in a lot of blank space we have on our shelves," she added.

The study is based on the "1966 Minimum Standards for Public Library Systems" as established by the American Library Association, according to MLA President Madle Morgan of Jackson.

The standards state that a library system "Should own resources of at least two-to-four-volumes per capita."

The study shows that Mississippi Libraries in 1978 averaged only 1.57 books per capita, falling short by nearly two million volumes.

Figures in 1978 also show that public libraries in the state own a total of 3,470,671 books as compared to the 5,406,776 determined to be needed for the state's total population.

An increase of 56 percent more than what is now owned would be necessary to meet the minimum standard, Ms. Morgan reports.

According to Ms. Morgan, retail book prices today average more than $15, which would mean a minimum of $30 million would be needed to allow public libraries to reach the national standard.

BOOK REVIEW

WHO'S IN CHARGE

In 1961, humorist Gerald Gardner created a new form of political satire with his million copy bestselling photo-caption paperback, Who's In Charge Here?

Gardner's lampooning of such international figures as John Kennedy, Dwight Eisenhower, and Nikita Khrushchev spent 35 weeks on the New York Times Best Seller list.

Now, with another presidential campaign heating up and another Kennedy in the running, Gerald Gardner is at it again with his newest photo-caption book, Who's In Charge Here? 1980.

Almost every conceivable presidential candidate - Carter, Kennedy, Brown, Reagan, Connally, Baker, Ford - and even some people - Pope John Paul II, Rosalynn Carter, Jane Fonda, and Richard Nixon - who aren't gone after the job in 1980 are among the targets in the 80 different full-page photo-barbs Gardner has created for Who's In Charge Here? 1980.

Gerald Gardner has authored two other photo-caption books published as Bantam Extras, "The Watergate Follies and The Streaking Book." His latest is to be published Dec. 5.

SENIOR CITIZEN EVENTS

BY MS. PETE CARR

I would like to salute the various merchants of our community who have made donations to the Center which were given as prizes at the various affairs held at the center.

I wish they could see the happy smiles on the faces of the various winners, leaving the rest with the hope that next time they will be a winner. In appreciation I am listing their names.

If I inadvertently overlooked someone please call the Center and let me know so I can make the correction in my next column. They are:

Peoples Federal Loan & Savings Association
Security Savings & Loan Association

Danny's Fried Chicken
Little Caesar's Restaurant
Scafi's Restaurant
The Eatery
The Sisters Three
The Pizza Hut
The Flower Shop

And now, if there are any retired men in our Community (over 60) we would appreciate your dropping a line as to what recreational program in which you would enjoy participating.

Classes could be arranged to suit your pleasure, but unless you call the Center and make suggestions as to what you would like the Center to provide, the Center is at a loss as to how to proceed.

Some ideas would be card games, wood engraving, etc. If you have a skill that you feel someone would like to learn or be able to use, perhaps you could be a volunteer teacher. Call Jim Hoda at the Center and discuss this with him. He is in charge of the Recreational Department and is open to ideas to start things going for the men of the Community.

All you have to be is 60 or over with a desire to find companionship with your peers or sharing your knowledge with someone else. Jim Hoda can be reached at 467-9292, preferably between 8 and 9 a.m. Leave a message for him to call you if he is away from his desk.

The Center can only endeavor to reach out - it is asking for your input. So you reach out and get a group together and let Jim know your thoughts and ideas - each and every one of you out there are important - help the Center grow to meet your individual needs.

After the holidays are over, the 1980 classes will begin.

At the present time the embroidery class (which includes needlepoint, etc.), Art classes (oil and acrylics), Ceramic Classes, etc. are open and the Center is in the process of studying new ideas for the 1980 program.

As soon as these have been formulated we will keep you posted. Should you have any ideas, let the Center know. The more the merrier.

In discussing the problems of aging (the physical aspect) with some of my peers, I laughingly said: "Well, when anyone asks me how I feel I tell them - I never ask myself that question as I am afraid of the answer - I just keep on going." Dates to Remember: Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 10:30 a.m. - Rev. Charles Clark of the Waveland First Assembly of God will officiate at a special Thanksgiving service. He has a surprise for us as he has a Gospel Group which has toured throughout the U.S. (including the Gulf Coast) and they will be donating their service. It sounds super special so do attend.

Wednesday, Nov. 21 noon - Senior Citizens only. Thanksgiving Dinner will be served to all who make reservations. Not too much time left so don't forget to leave your name with Pam.

Everyone Needs Restraint When Vehicle Is Moving

Automobile accidents are the leading killer of children. More than 1,000 children younger than five years old die every year from injuries received in highway accidents. Tens of thousands more are injured, some permanently.

In a moving vehicle, everyone needs a restraint, says Dannie Reed, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service farm safety specialist. Safety belts, child restraints and infant carriers all help to keep people from striking hard surfaces and each other inside the car and from being thrown from the car.

Children are top-heavy and have softer bones, so it's important to spread the pressure absorbed by a child's body over the largest area possible, Reed explains. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Medical Association and the National Safety Council recommend child safety seats that meet the appropriate standards.

Restraints for children include infant car carriers, harness restraints, harnesses in wrap-around seats and seats with padded surfaces in front.

Restraints minimize injuries in accidents and reduce horseplay. A child who is jumping about the car annoys the driver and may distract him from the important job of driving safely, Reed says.

Often drivers must stop suddenly or swerve sharply. An unrestrained child is thrown against hard surfaces and may be injured, he adds. Don't let children or pets ride in your lap if you are driving; this dangerous practice kills many young children needlessly each year.

NOTICE GARBAGE COLLECTION-THANKSGIVING DAY

If your garbage collection day falls on Thanksgiving day your garbage will be collected the following day. To keep the city clean please do not put garbage out until Friday morning.

If you have any problems or complaints please call us at 467-3376. If we are not in, please leave a message including your name, address and telephone number on the recorder. Thank you.

Lott lables Iranian actions 'deplorable'

U.S. Rep. Trent Lott, R-Miss., today termed the invasion by revolutionary students of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran "a deplorable act" and cautioned that the U.S. must now and in the future deal more sternly with Iran.

"Unfortunately, the action apparently supported, at least tacitly, by the fanatical leader Ayatollah Khomeini," he said.

Lott, who represents Mississippi's Fifth District, said it is particularly disturbing that the U.S. government had not taken proper precautions in Iran's very unstable climate to assure the safety of American citizens working in the embassy and thereby to avoid such a development.

"Uppermost in everybody's mind now has got to be the protection of the lives of American citizens," he said. "Because of that, even though we would like to take immediate direct action, careful thought and caution must be involved in whatever we do."

But Lott added, "At the same time, I resent the threats from the revolutionary government of cutting off their shipments of oil to America."

Emphasizing the necessity for sterner dealings with the Iranian government, the congressman pointed to the Carter Administration's action in the shipment of heating oil to Iran.

"Just two months ago, when President Carter approved the ridiculous sale to Iran of $47 million worth of scarce American-refined heating oil, a goodwill agreement should have been secured to ensure the continued shipment of American crude," Lott said.

"Instead, President Carter gave his blessing to the unconditional shipment of two million barrels of oil," he said. "The President justified his action on the premise of balancing the humanitarian needs of Iranians at the time with the stabilization of U.S. relations with the Iranian government."

Gex Hired.....

The board entered into executive session near the end of a 3.5 hour meeting Monday, pursuing secret discussion for some 55 minutes.

In other business, the board took under advisement payment of $254 to Pitco Company of Bay St. Louis for 11 hours labor during repair of a cafeteria dishwasher motor.

The issue of labor costs arose when the board was asked to renew Pitco's contract with a 7.5 percent increase, making the total cost of the yearly maintenance agreement contract $2,370, an increase from last year of $165.

Board Member James Ginn examined a recent bill presented to the board requesting the labor payment for repairs on the dishwasher motor.

Ginn said he thought the repair costs were covered by the contract, but Turcotte pointed out that Pitco only inspects school system equipment, adding all labor and materials for repairs are extra.

The board members and McCullough began whispering among themselves for nearly five minutes before McCullough announced that all charges for equipment and labor are extra.

Turcotte then suggested that the board ask Pitco to establish a set labor charge for repairs to equipment, pointing out that Pitco charged $23.10 per hour to repair the motor.

Bay Senior High Assistant Principal Frank Ladner said Pitco had the motor for approximately three to four days and total rewiring of the largest motor in the dishwasher was necessary.

Lucien Gex told the board to request Pitco to establish a labor rate for future repairs and the board took the issue under advisement.

Also at Monday's meeting, Bay St. Louis Local, Mississippi Association of Educators President Judy Barrett asked the board to endorse a resolution supporting upcoming legislation which will enable the system's bookkeeper to deduct dues for professional organizations from teachers' paychecks.

The action will amend the law as stated in Mississippi Code 37-9-49, which states it is unlawful to deduct anything from teachers' paychecks other than insurance.

"Teachers are pushing this in the legislature, and we want you to support us," Barrett said.

She said a professional organization is "any organization which makes me a better teacher, such as a social studies organization, an English organization, the MAE, AFT (American Federation of Teachers), any group a teacher chooses to belong to."

The amendment specifies the deduction will only be made on a written request by the teacher.

Ginn asked if the deductions will bring any hardship upon the bookkeeper, and McCullough answered it will not.

Ginn said he will support the legislation, and Diboll also agreed to sign the resolution.

When asked for his opinion, McCullough said the decision is up to the board.

"This is entirely left up to the board. The legislature will determine whether the law is amended or not," the superintendent said.

Barrett said the change in the law is intended to assist the teachers.

Ginn then moved that the board endorse the resolution, which was seconded by Diboll.

Turcotte asked if the endorsement would mean a step toward collective bargaining.

"This looks to me like this will lead to collective bargaining. I suggest we ask Lucien's opinion," Turcotte said.

Gex said the change in law has "similarities to dues checkoffs in collective bargaining," and added that the term "professional organizations sounds like dues checkoff to me."

"As long as the broad term 'professional organizations' is used, it is alright. But I cannot deny this has all the similarities of dues checkoff," the attorney said.

Barrett then explained that almost all fields of study have organizations.

"The home-ec teachers have an organization, as does the social studies department, and practically all the curriculum here. I am sorry collective bargaining has you scared to death," Barrett told the board.

Gex suggested the board specify professional organizations, adding that wording of the resolution Barrett is introducing to the board may change in legislation.

Andrews Wilkinson, president of the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, said, "A professional organization is merely an organization of professionals."

Board President Virginia Gex reminded the board that it is not now voting to accept the amended law, just voting to support the proposed amendment in the form of a resolution.

The board then unanimously agreed to support the proposal.

Also at the meeting Ginn asked North Bay Elementary Principal Billy Sills if two fires had erupted in classrooms due to faulty heating systems.

Sills said no fires had begun, but wires of one heater had begun to smoke.

Ginn then asked if a fire extinguisher is placed in each classroom.

Sills said an extinguisher is in every other classroom, and each is checked for damage "every other month."

Ginn then asked McCullough if an Educational Assessment Committee, assigned to determine methods of enhancing education at the schools, has met and made reports lately.

McCullough said he has been advised by the school attorney not to proceed at this time "because of the law suit."

The board then agreed to send a letter to the band and chorus of Bay St. Louis Senior High School commending them on superior ratings received at recent contests.

The board will meet again at a regularly scheduled meeting Monday, Dec. 8 at 7:30 p.m.

Health Tip

ALCOHOL CAUSES BIRTH DEFECTS

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

One major cause of birth defects is totally preventable.

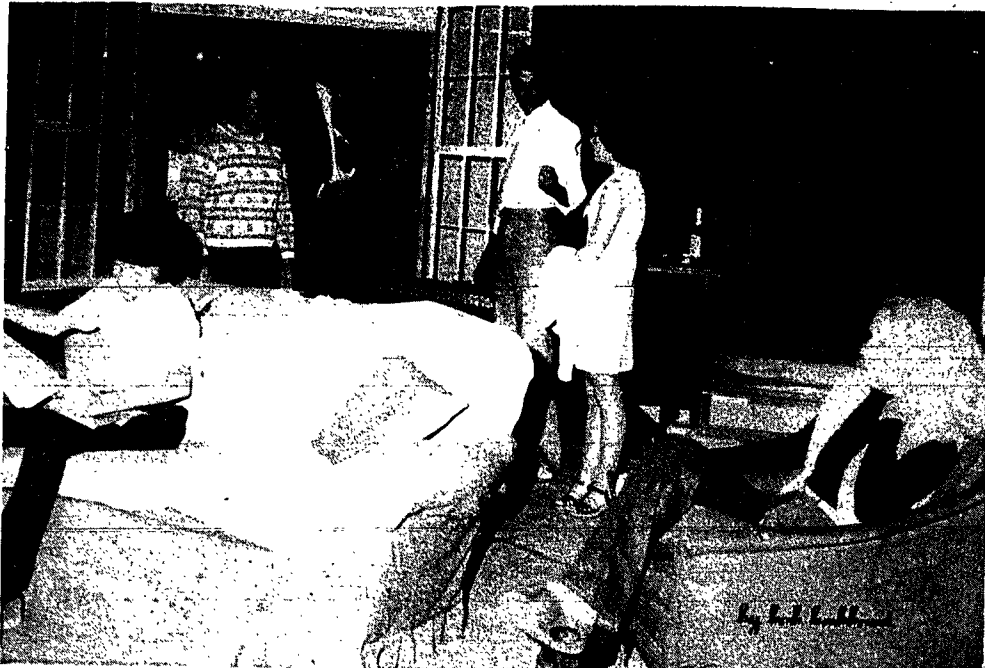

The Mississippi State Medical Association reminds you that such birth defects as central nervous system dysfunction, growth deficiencies, facial abnormalities, skeletal malformations, and mental retardation have been attributed to a condition called Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS). Tragically, the incidence of this preventable condition is expected to increase because of increased drinking among young people.

Many impaired infants have been born to women 35-40 years old who are at the end of their child-bearing years. But recent studies have reported that 8-12 percent of young people leaving high school already have established problem drinking patterns.

It is likely that, unless these future young mothers are made aware of the dangers of drinking during pregnancy, many more defective infants will be born.

The severity of the defects in FAS children appears to be related to the amount of alcohol ingested, but variabilities may be associated with alcohol ingestion during critical stages of pregnancy, as well as individual differences in metabolic susceptibility.

Even in small quantities, alcohol can apparently affect mental function and possibly produce other deficiencies in the developing infant.

Atlanta, Ga.

Harrison and Jackson Counties now have CES voting systems.

The proposed system would replace the present written ballot method, presently in use in Hancock County, with a computer data card punch system.

Stanley says, "There is no way to accidentally vote improperly with the CES Votomatic equipment and 350 cards can be counted in about one and a half minutes."

"This is the most accurate and modern system available which can save your county on printing and reduce the number of poll workers needed each election, Stanley explained.

"This is one of the best systems I've ever seen," commented Supervisor James Travira.

Addressing Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis, Travira exclaimed, "It's your fault that you haven't gotten this done three years ago. We've had two editorials criticizing the supervisors for not having voting machines."

Otis replied, "A couple of years ago the board said they couldn't finance the machines and were very dubious about funding a system."

I'm in favor of this type of machine because it is cheaper and much more efficient. We would need a storage warehouse for the lever type machines because the lever machines are large and cumbersome."

Each CES voting machine requires no electricity and folds into the size of a medium size suitcase.

seconded by Walter Turcotte, and the motion was approved unanimously by the board, consisting of Diboll, Turcotte, and James Ginn.

Maurice Singleton was not present at the meeting.

After the vote was taken several parents and teachers in the audience complained that the board has spent the money on equipment which has not been described when children in classes are going without workbooks.

The other bids received for the equipment were from Sports Unlimited of Gulfport, $355; and Hale and Jones of Gulfport, $525.

The board also accepted bids on three used pickup trucks which have been replaced with new vehicles.

Three bids received from Larry Dahl were $32 for North Bay truck number two; $127 for truck number three; and $77 for Junior High truck number four.

Bill Johnson submitted three bids for the trucks, offering $25 for North Bay truck number two, $210 for truck number three, and $50 for Junior High truck number four.

The county has the option of purchasing precinct size counting machines and/or a large central computer which would later be capable of handling other transactions.

The CES proposal would cost the county about $68,000.

However, the board requested another quotation on 100 Votomatic machines and five precinct ballot counters which would involve less equipment than the original proposal by CES.

In other business during the 9 a.m. Tuesday meeting in the Second Floor Board Room in the County Court House, Bay St. Louis, the board unanimously approved:

—Accepting the resignation of John C. Chevris Jr. as county prosecutor effective Nov. 12, 1979; —Appointing John Genin as county prosecutor to fill the position vacated by Chevris;

—A resolution requesting the Mississippi Congressional Delegation endorse President Carter's position regarding the Iran situation;

—A resolution requesting the A & I Board give their approval to the county to issue bonds for Borge-Warner;

—The acceptance of bids for hot mix paving of 15 county roads;

—Advertising for bids for a pickup truck for District 4;

—Advertising the sale of a 1973 Chevrolet pickup truck.

The next regular meeting of the County Board of Supervisors is set for 9 a.m. Dec. 3.

Almost all of my colleagues in the Senate agree that our votes on this complex issue could be the most crucial decision we will ever make as U.S. Senators.

President Carter invited me and a number of citizens from Mississippi to the White House the other day for a lengthy personal briefing on the SALT II agreement.

That session, and a breakfast meeting the next day with Henry Kissinger, are examples of the frequent meetings being held to fully explore the provisions of the agreement and the consequences which may flow from Senate ratification or rejection.

My purpose at this point is to obtain all the information available on which to base a decision as to whether or not ratification will serve our national interests.

During consideration of the treaty, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has adopted several amendments which in the opinion of many serve to clarify and strengthen it.

One amendment declares that nothing in the treaty will prevent continuation of our existing strategic relationship with NATO allies, such as Britain and France. It is important to note that the SALT II agreement does not include, does not limit, deployment of nuclear weapons by our European allies. Neither does it involve China, which has been a traditional and bitter rival of Russia for centuries.

Another amendment adopted by the committee declares that the United States may terminate the SALT II agreement if the Soviet Union impedes our verification of their compliance with the treaty terms. Also, the committee has made it clear that Soviet development of new missiles with greater capabilities than permitted by SALT II would be a treaty violation.

As my study of the agreement has progressed, certain facts have become clear. With or without the SALT II treaty both the U.S. and Russia will have more than enough nuclear weapons to literally destroy each other. Also, the treaty itself does not address the overall military capabilities of both superpowers, particularly with respect to conventional weapons, non-nuclear forces, and theatre nuclear forces. Only intercontinental weapons systems are touched by the agreement.

Neither should we permit the SALT process to become a vehicle for nuclear blackmail by the Soviet Union. As your United States Senator, I am committed to helping assure that our military posture is improved and that we are not locked into a position of inferiority.

Regardless of how I may ultimately vote on ratification, it will be urging during the debate that we increase our national defense budget to a more realistic level in order to build up our conventional military power.

We definitely need support for troops, equipment such as tanks, ships, cargo planes and more sophisticated weapons for combat readiness.

Serious doubts have been raised in recent weeks about our manpower levels, the availability of sufficient Navy ships and Air Force planes, and the performance of weapons and equipment in our Armed Forces. I don't think we have enough well-trained troops, and support units to carry out the mission of protecting our interests at home and abroad in a conventional manner.

It would be one of the greatest ironies of history if the United States were so engrossed in controlling the nuclear arms race, the buildup and proliferation of nuclear weapons, that we allow our overall military capability to slip into an inferior position.

SPECIAL REPORT:

SALT II and Our Defense

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee is expected to complete its consideration of the controversial SALT II, or strategic arms limitation treaty, soon, and floor debate on this issue may begin in the Senate before Thanksgiving.

This SALT process between the United States and the Soviet Union is probably the most important international arms limitation effort in history.

Almost all of my colleagues in the Senate agree that our votes on this complex issue could be the most crucial decision we will ever make as U.S. Senators.

President Carter invited me and a number of citizens from Mississippi to the White House the other day for a lengthy personal briefing on the SALT II agreement.

Intimidation.....

request dated March 8, 1977. Mr. Wilkinson was representing the Bay St. Louis Federation of Teachers to ask that his organization be granted the right to represent its membership before the Board of Trustees in the same manner the MAE (Mississippi Association of Educators) did. At that time the defendants' school board policy provided that the MAE...was the official voice of the professional personnel employed in the system. On June 13, 1977, the Board of Trustees adopted a resolution not to recognize any representatives of organized groups," the document reads.

On September 29, 1977...Wilkinson...sent a letter appealing the resolution of June 13, 1977...In December of 1977 the Board of Trustees reaffirmed the resolution of June 13, 1977 with one 'nay' vote by Mrs. Jean Townsend.

"On January 27, 1978, Mrs. Carmella Boyd was refused a place on the agenda of the February 13, 1978 meeting because, according to Mr. J. D. McCullough, the agenda was too crowded. Mrs. Boyd was called on February 13, 1978, the day of the meeting, and was informed that she would be on the agenda that night after all; the call came from the Superintendent's office," the plaintiffs continued.

The allegations continue, citing dates when the superintendent allegedly refused to allow a patron on the agenda because "it was too crowded." Other alleged instances when the patrons were met with opposition in attempts to gain a slot on the agenda include:

- Sept. 6, 1978, when McCullough allegedly informed Noonan a 12 p.m. deadline was in effect and she was late. Noonan claims no earlier mention of a deadline had been made;

- Wilkinson allegedly requested to be on the agenda on several occasions, never receiving an answer;

- Lucien Gex allegedly refused to allow Noonan to speak to the board at a July 9, 1979 meeting because she was not on the agenda; and

- Most recently, Wilkinson alleges he was not allowed to speak as a representative of the AFT at a meeting on Aug. 13, 1979.

In their interrogatory filed last month, the defendants had asked for specific instances when the board has allegedly unreasonably imposed a board Policy 18 restriction.

The answer alleges that the policy not to allow discussion of wages, hours, or working conditions at board meetings is unreasonable to parents and teachers because it subjects the parties "to the screening and intimidation process by which the Superintendent seeks to deter the Plaintiffs' exercise of free speech."

The document alleges the policy does not allow individuals a slot on agendas of special meetings, and because the restrictions "impose an unnecessary burden of time and expense on the parents, teachers, taxpayers, and teachers' organizations having to go through the Principal and Superintendent on matters which (those administrators) could not under law resolve..."

Four separate instances of alleged unreasonable impositions are listed including:

- Allegedly delaying Noonan from meeting the deadline for the agenda;

- Not allowing Noonan to speak of an issue not outlined in her original request to address the board;

- Allegedly cutting into Noonan's 10 minute time limit during an address to the board on April 10, 1979; and

- Allegedly violating the parliamentary procedure when Board Attorney Lucien Gex called Nell Woodall out of order after she was recognized by Board President Virginia Gex.

The original suit alleges that persons similar to the plaintiffs have address the board and been granted slots agenda without meeting requirements and restrictions of Policy 18.

The answer filed Monday cites individuals and organizations such as the American Heart Association, Boyd, Woodall, Wilkinson, Mary Kay Deen, Judy Barrett, Charles Gottschalk, teachers, Assistant Superintendent Donald Caldwell, and representatives from the Gideon Society allegedly addressed the board without going through the Policy 18 requirements.

"As citizens, the Plaintiffs do not object to any other citizen being allowed to speak freely, when recognized by the president of the board to speak...the plaintiffs do object to Policy 18 being imposed on them and other citizens in an unreasonable manner, inconsistently, unequally, and unfairly..." the answer reads.

The answer also alleges that the board approved payment of expenses for five members of the MAE to attend a meeting of that organization in Jackson, a direct violation of board non-recognition of organizations, and also alleged the unannounced cancellation of two meetings.

The plaintiffs also allege the board has, on several occasions, hindered or refused attempts of school patrons to make copies and inspect documents which are public record.

The plaintiffs, in the answer, alleged 11 instances in which such hindrances took place.

In the document filed Monday, the plaintiffs list numerous cases when McCullough allegedly prevented copies of public records to be made, and also claims the board's copying policy, which charges 25 cents per copy upon approval by the superintendent and board, is exorbitant.

The answer to the interrogatory also alleges that McCullough "...has on numerous occasions during the period since April 11, 1977, imposed censorship and screening requirements on these Plaintiffs' attempts to be placed on the agenda..." Such cases of alleged "censorship and screening" include:

- McCullough allegedly informing Woodall she could not be on the agenda "because he did not want her there;"

- McCullough allegedly screened Noonan's questions and making her write them in advance and telling her what he wanted her to ask the board;

- North Bay Principal Billy Sills allegedly telling teachers "...any teacher discovered to have spoken to the PTO President on administrative matters would be asked to resign immediately;"

- An alleged phone conversation between Noonan and McCullough in which McCullough allegedly said his nephew, who is southern district manager for International Business Machines Corp., could have an effect on Noonan's husband who is also employed by IBM;

- McCullough allegedly told Woodall that "he had gotten her job for her previously in the county schools and presently in the city schools. He said it in such a manner as to indicate that she owed him a debt and also indicating his power to take the job away."

The answer to the interrogatory also alleges that McCullough intimidated patrons and teachers.

The answer alleges that during a conversation between the superintendent and Sue Sonier, a teacher at the system, McCullough said, "not to be too impressed with the new board members, and Mrs. McCullough said that he would have Mr. James Ginn straightened out in two phone calls and that Mrs. Betty Diboll didn't have any more sense than the chair she sat in..."

The answer alleges that McCullough told a number of school patrons attempting to obtain copies of docket-s "...that he didn't work for any damn

McCormick allegedly reminded the superintendent that he works for the taxpayer, to which he allegedly replied he "did not work for her or the taxpayers of Bay St. Louis since his pay check came from the State of Mississippi."

The document alleges that McCullough would not allow patrons to examine dockets "unless there were two (2) auditors present, and then only one at a time...could go back (to the bookkeeping room) with him."

The answer alleges that McCullough told Percy McKay, during a telephone conversation, that Noonan and McCormick were moving school dockets posted at the Bay St. Louis City Hall and the Hancock County Courthouse "in order to confuse the public and that these women were using McKay and the Black People..."

The court document then alleges McCullough referred to Noonan, McCormick, and McKay in an obscene manner.

The plaintiffs allege that McCullough asked Gloria Holland, while he had her alone in his office, where her husband worked:

"...McCullough then picked up a pad from his desk and a pen and told her to repeat that so he could write it down..." the plaintiffs allege in the answer.

The answer alleges that Turcotte told Charles Barrack "...there won't be any PTO in the city schools after this lawsuit is over..."

W. J. Cameron, Bay Junior High principal, is alleged to have told Pam Griffin that if she had been a member of a union, he would not have hired her.

The document also mentions Hancock County Port and Harbor Executive Director Wilson W. Webre, who allegedly withheld a job from Woodall's husband because of the lawsuit against McCullough.

McCullough is President of the Port and Harbor Commission.

In conclusion, the answer alleges that the school board conducted several meetings "secretly and without notice to the plaintiffs and public."

The court document filed Monday alleges 13 meetings which were not in accordance with the state's Open Meeting Law.

The answer to the interrogatory is signed by Noonan and Wilkinson, both as representatives of their respective organizations and as individuals; Gottschalk, Holland, Boyd, and Blessey.

Depositions from the board members, which were taken secretly in the Hancock County Youth Court building, are expected to be the next documents in the case to be at the Biloxi Federal Courthouse.

Two Hancock students attend Belhaven College

Jackson-Two Hancock County students have enrolled at Belhaven College for the first semester of the '97th academic session. They are Becky Tedford of Waveland, and Kathy Cox of Bay St. Louis.

According to Dr. S. Dewey Buckley, vice president for academic affairs at the liberal arts college, enrollment this session soared to record peaks with a total of 886 students.

Enrollment at the Presbyterian college is up 28 percent over last year's 694 students and reflects 92 more students than the previous record of 794 set in 1974.

Miss Tedford, a junior Political science and history major, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.A. Tedford. She is a dean's list scholar and a member of Phi Alpha Theta, an honorary history society.

Miss Cox is a sophomore majoring in biology. The daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Jacob, she is a dean's list scholar and a 1978 graduate of Bay High School.

Belhaven College is a four-year coeducational college for liberal arts and sciences located in Jackson. Founded in 1883, the college is Presbyterian-related.

LADY NEEDS A HOME - Lady, a part German Shepherd, was found abandoned on the side of a road recently with her five newborn puppies. The Bay-Waveland Humane Society found homes for the puppies, but Lady remains without a home. Anyone wishing to see the gentle dog may call 467-9494. (Staff photo - Randy Ponder)

For your child's safety

"Although it's obvious that many of the 'fun things' we see in playgrounds can be hazardous to children, many parents neglect to properly caution their youngsters against these dangers," says Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and former medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company.

He cites the following as some of the chief dangers of the playground: (a) Swings: Be sure the child is secure and balanced when sitting on a swing. Also teach him to watch for flying swings when he is not on them. Many children receive serious head injuries when struck by swings. (2) Sliding boards: They are no place for horseplay. Toddlers should not be allowed to ride them under any circumstances. (3) Merry-go-rounds: If a child slips off, serious injury is quite likely. When they are old enough, youngsters should be taught to sit upright, grasping the handrail with both hands.

Aging Is Lifelong Process Says Gerontology Expert

Aging, a process that continues during the entire adult life span, is as much a part of living as infancy, childhood and adolescence, according to John Lovitt, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service gerontology program specialist.

Aging has many aspects, but the main ones are biological, psychological and social-economic. The biological aspects of aging include general factors that underlie aging and the general health status.

The probability of death increases with advancing age; therefore, changes must occur which make an older person more susceptible to disease.

"For example, a young adult may quickly recover from pneumonia, but for an elderly person, it could be fatal," says Lovitt.

Farm-City Week begins Nov. 16

Farm-City Week, set for Nov. 16-22, is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, announces Dr. W. M. Bost, director, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Sponsored by the National Farm-City Council, Inc., it is dedicated to bringing about better understanding between rural and urban residents and to explaining the basic problems to each group to the other.

The Farm-City Council is a loosely-structured nonprofit organization which maintains headquarters at the Kiwanis International Building in Chicago.

Theme for the 25th anniversary year of the National Farm-City Council is "Farm and City - Partner in Economic Progress; With Pride in the Past and Faith in the Future."

"Agriculture is this nation's biggest industry," explains Dr. Bost.

"Its $671 billion assets of all manufacturing corporations in the United States. The value of agriculture in Mississippi is almost $3 billion," he adds.

"American agriculture has advanced more in the past 50 years than in all of history," says Dr. Bost. "Modern farming and ranching are now combined with a sophisticated system of processing, distributing and merchandising."

Agriculture creates jobs; 14 to 17 million persons throughout the country work in some phase of agriculture. Our nation's agriculture production is now conducted on 2.7 million farms.

"Agriculture gets food to us where we want it," says Dr. Bost, in pointing out that year consumers spent $180 billion on U.S. farm-produced foods. About $124 billion of that was to get the food from the farm to U.S. tables, he adds.

Farmers are among our most efficient producers. One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 57 people, according to U.S. Department of Agriculture figures. We export more farm products than anyone else in the world.

"Farmers are consumers as well as producers," says Dr. Bost. "They pay taxes and spend $86 billion annually for goods and services to produce crops and livestock. Many rural and urban residents face some of the same problems—especially that of escalating living costs."

Despite recent price rises in food, family income buys considerably more food today because agriculture has become much more efficient and consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices.

Farmers help protect our natural resources, too. They participate in soil and water conservation efforts and help improve the quality of both. Farmers are concerned about managing our forestland, too. "Mississippians are pleased to join this nationwide effort to celebrate Farm-City Week this month," says Dr. Bost. "Agriculture is vital to the state's economy and will continue to grow in importance."

Jackson Symphony to perform at Bay Library

LIBRARY HOSTS STRING QUARTET—City-County Public holding a principal position with the Jackson Symphony Orchestra in Bay St. Louis will be the scene of a concert by the Jackson Symphony Orchestra-Jackson State University String Quartet on November 20, at 8:00 p.m. Quartet members, each

The Jackson Symphony Orchestra-Jackson State University String Quartet will perform at City-County Public Library in Bay St. Louis on November 20, at 8:00 p.m.

The quartet performance, made possible by a cooperative effort of the Hancock County Library System, the Mississippi Library Commission, and the Mississippi Arts Commission, is free of charge to all interested persons.

The quartet, the most prestigious chamber music ensemble in Mississippi, tours extensively performing a variety of music from classical to an upbeat rendition of "Turkey in the Straw." The quartet also recruits talented musicians for the Jackson Symphony Orchestra and the Jackson Symphony Youth Orchestra.

The String Quartet members, each holding a principal position with the Jackson Symphony Orchestra, are Robert McNally and Lucy Heiberg, violins; Micky Davis, viola; and Andrew Cox, cello.

Currently serving as concertmaster for the Jackson Symphony Orchestra and musician-in-residence at Jackson State University, Mr. McNally has studied with Tosca Kramer, Ramon Girvin of the American Conservatory and Cosmopolitan School of Music in Chicago.

He has done additional study with Andor Tot of the Alma Trio and the New Hungarian Quartet. He is former concertmaster of the Tulsa Youth Symphony. He was for nine years artist-in-residence of the Taos School of Chamber Music.

Mrs. Heiberg received her bachelor's degree from Northwestern University and studied the Suzuki teaching method with John Kendall at Syracuse University.

She has done additional study with Scott Willits of the University of Mississippi Law Center.

The training program is conducted by the Mississippi Judicial College at the University of Mississippi Law Center, sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, and funded by the Criminal Justice Planning Commission, Office of the Governor.

Registration will begin at 3 p.m. on November 25.

Brief

DOOBIE BROTHERS

The Doobie Brothers perform songs that have made the seven members of the band among today's most popular rock stars on "Soundstage" at 10 p.m., Saturday, November 17, on Mississippi ETV. "Minute By Minute," "It Keeps You Runnin'," "China Grove," "What A Fool Believes" and "Listen To The Music" are some of the major hits the Doobie Brothers perform on this program. "Soundstage" also follows the group on horseback riding trips, through baseball games and on a paddle boat cruise on Wisconsin's Lake Geneva.

Justice judge-elects to attend workshops

Justice court judges from Stone County will meet for a mandatory training program November 25-28 at the Biloxi Hilton in Biloxi.

Mississippi law requires that all justice court judges be certified by the Attorney General of the State of Mississippi as having successfully completed a prescribed course of training and education prior to their taking office in 1980. Failure to attend this mandatory training program will prevent the judge from taking office.

The four-day program will include presentation of lectures, demonstrations, and discussions both live and on videotape. Faculty members will include staff attorneys from the Office of the Attorney General, members of the judiciary and state agencies, practicing attorneys, and University of Mississippi Law Center professors.

The training program is conducted by the Mississippi Judicial College at the University of Mississippi Law Center, sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, and funded by the Criminal Justice Planning Commission, Office of the Governor.

Registration will begin at 3 p.m. on November 25.

Consumer specialist offers medical hints

By NORINE BARNES
"Money Talks"

How can you reduce medical costs? Reducing might be changed to controlling in this decade of inflation.

Prevention is the best cure. Develop good health practices such as good nutrition, adequate rest, exercise, etc. Try to avoid extreme stress, change the pace and routine occasionally.

In your family money plan, include money for regular physical and dental checkups. Review what you spent for medical costs last year and divide by twelve. This amount should be set aside monthly to meet medical expenses.

Select a family physician and permit him to accumulate a family medical history. Between annual routine checks, make a list of questions or comments you need to consider on your next visit. Then follow the doctor's advice and take the medicine prescribed.

It is your money. The consumer too often pays for medical advice that is never needed.

Ask your doctor if another medicine which is cheaper can be substituted. Take the medicine as the doctor directs. Often, half filled medicine bottles litter the bathroom cabinets.

If you take medicine regularly, ask your pharmacist if you can save by buying in amounts of 100 rather than a month's supply. In some cases the savings might be as much as 60 percent, while in other cases the savings might be 10 to 15 percent. Most non-liquid medicine is packaged by 100's, so less labor is needed in prescription preparation.

Does your health insurance policy pay supplementary benefits after certain deductions are met? Many policies pay as much as 80 percent for prescription drugs, doctor's visits, etc. This benefit is paid only if you file a claim, thereby making records necessary. Receipts for each prescription must be filed, usually along with the name of the doctor, medicine, patient and disorder.

Put your main thrust on prevention and control your medical dollars.

BUSINESS SCHOLARSHIPS
A gift from Forrest C. Mobley of West Palm Beach, Fla. made possible establishment of the Forrest C. Mobley Scholarships in Business Administration at Ole Miss. Mobley, a 1930 alumnus from Wiggins, designated the scholarships for outstanding second, third, and fourth year undergraduate students and for graduate students.

Frederic school damages total $9.5 million Hancock unaffected

Gautier-- Damage surveys still underway show that Hurricane Frederic caused just under $9.5 million in damages to public and private non-profit educational facilities in Mississippi.

Much of the building repairs and replacement of equipment will be paid for by a combination of funds from the U.S. Office of Education and proceeds from insurance coverage, according to the Office of Education. Other financial aid will come from the President's Disaster Relief Fund.

William H. Mayer, Federal Coordinating Officer for Hurricane Frederic in Mississippi, said figures supplied by the Office of Education show that public schools in Jackson County were the most severely affected by the hurricane. Damages there are estimated at $5.7 million. Harrison County public schools were the next hardest hit, where Frederic caused about $1.5 million worth of damage.

Total public school damage estimates supplied by the Office of Education for the remainder of the disaster area counties are:

Under federal law, Mississippi public and private non-profit educational institutions are eligible for financial assistance to restore their educational facilities to the same level of service that existed before the hurricane. Federal financial assistance is available to reimburse the institutions for many losses and expenses due to the disaster, including debris removal, building repairs and replacement of contents.

Assistance to public schools damaged during disasters is provided under authorities granted to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

In addition to the public school damages reported by the Office of Education, about $593,000 worth of damages to both public and private non-profit schools, colleges and universities in Mississippi will be repaired with funds from the President's Disaster Relief Fund. The President's fund is administered by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

Four disaster engineering teams from Washington, D.C. and the Atlanta regional headquarters of HEW (Office of Facilities and Construction) worked with Mississippi school officials to assess the damage.

Several other damage survey teams from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, working for FEMA, are continuing to assess Frederic's impact on public and private non-profit schools, colleges and universities.

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI
COUNTY OF HANCOCK
NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

WHEREAS, Martin A. Morreale became indebted to Gulf National Bank, Gulfport, Mississippi, and in order to secure the indebtedness, executed and delivered, on December 19, 1978, a Deed of Trust to Webb M. Mize, Trustee for Gulf National Bank, Beneficiary, which Deed of Trust is recorded in Book 215, at pages 351-353, of the Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust on Land in Hancock County, Mississippi; and
WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provides that, in the event default is made in the payment of the secured indebtedness, an additional amount of fifteen percent (15 percent) shall be added thereto as attorney's fees, and default has been made in the payment of the secured indebtedness and Gulf National Bank has exercised the option provided in the Note evidencing the said indebtedness declaring the whole of the unpaid principal balance immediately due and payable, as well as attorneys' fees; and
WHEREAS, the said Deed of Trust provides that, in the event of default, the Trustee shall, upon the request or demand of the Beneficiary, sell said property, as is provided in the said Deed of Trust; and
WHEREAS, default has been made in the payment of the secured indebtedness and Gulf National Bank, the Beneficiary in said Deed of Trust, has requested the undersigned Trustee, to make foreclosure under said Deed of Trust.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Webb M. Mize, Trustee, do hereby give notice that I will, on Friday, December 7, 1979, during legal hours, at the front door of the Hancock County Court House, in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, offer for sale and sell at public outcry to the highest and best bidder for cash, the following described property, which is described in said Deed of Trust, said property being located in Hancock County, Mississippi, and more fully described as follows, to-wit:

The land described as being part of the West half (W 1/2) of the SE 1/4 of Section 32, Township 8 South, Range 14 West, Hancock County, Mississippi, and commencing at the one half (1/2) mile post on the Southern boundary of said Section 32, Township 8 South, Range 14 West; thence running North 4 chains and 57 links to a stake; thence South 37 degrees West 10 chains and 57 links to a stake; thence South 37 degrees West 10 chains and 57 links to a stake and thence West 20 links to the place of beginning, containing 2.8 acres and bounded North and East by land of the Vendor (Charles Sanger) South by land of Wm. Von Draskowsky and West by land of George Schubert. Being the same property acquired by the Grantor from the Main Street United Methodist Church by deed dated December 15, 1971, recorded in Book AA-12, page 334, Deed Records of Hancock County, Miss. as authorized by Resolution recorded in Book W-8, page 211, said Deed Records.

The above described property is subject to any restrictive covenants, reservations and easements of record. The above described land is vacant land and no part of the homestead of the Grantor.

Hancock Library System reports 10 new works

Compiled by Sherry Schwabacher

Everyone is busy, what with Christmas and all that Christmas shopping to do. Well, what better time to unwind and relax with a good book? Here is a list of latest now available at any branch of the Hancock County Library System:

THE FOUR HUNDRED by Stephen Sheppard. Great fun, as four young Americans in Dickensian London set out to rob the Bank of England of 400,000 pounds.

THE ESTABLISHMENT by Howard Fast. The continuing saga of the family of Dan Lavette, as told in the previous volumes, THE IMMIGRANTS and SECOND GENERATION.

A SHORT WALK by Alice Childress. With a series of memorable characters—the brave poor, the cowardly Bible Thumpers, gamblers, hookers, homosexuals, politicians, and Pullman porters—a sense of place and period is caught with unerring accuracy. Alice Childress has created a remarkable novel—once a poignant portrait of one indomitable woman and an eloquent testament to the strength of the human spirit.

ENDLESS LOVE by Scott Spencer. The subject is enduring, overwhelming love, a young man's love for a young girl and for her whole family. What happens to him—within him—is told without caution or constraint in a novel that seizes and startles by its magnetic voice, by the depth and force of its feelings.

THE SPIDERWEB by Joseph E. Persico. Just when you thought you'd have to get through the week without a Nazi book—here's THE SPIDERWEB—as British, American, Russian, and Nazi operatives begin a frantic and deadly search for the counterfeit five-pound plates produced in the concentration camps.

BLIND AMBITION by John Dean. John Dean's dramatic account of his years in the Nixon White House is the most brutally honest memoir in American political history.

PATHWAY TO ECSTASY by Patricia Garfield. In this revolutionary new book by the author of CREATIVE DREAMING, Patricia Garfield goes far beyond conventional wisdom to the very limits of the new dream research, to which she herself made a considerable contribution.

THE MEDICINE CABINET by Byron G. Wells. How to effectively supply, maintain and use your most important life-support system.

THE ALL-AROUND, UP-STAIRS-DOWNSTAIRS, INDOORS-OUTDOORS, GARAGE-TO-LIVING ROOM, SPIC-AND-SPAN, SHINY-BRIGHT, CAR-TO-COUCH, DIAMOND-TO-DOORKNOB, SUPER-HYGENIC, ALL-INCLUSIVE AND UNIVERSAL BOOK OF CLEANING WITH OTHER HOUSEHOLD AIDS by Ralph Treves. I think that the title just about says it all.

HOW TO CHOOSE A GOOD DOCTOR by George D. LeMaitre, M.D. Dr. LeMaitre maintains that the primary care physician is still important; that his role as coordinator of his patient's health services, as confidante and teacher of a healthful way of life are crucial to his patient's well-being. With this book you'll learn what to look for, what's important and what you can ignore.

Pass physician heads Tulane medical alumni graduate of Tulane School of Medicine, has been elected president of the Tulane Medical Alumni Association.

Dr. Charles D. Taylor of Pass Christian, a 1943

Other officers elected at the organization's recent annual meeting in New Orleans were: Dr. William H. Harris of New Orleans, president-elect; Dr. Charles Menendez of New Orleans, first vice president; Dr. Thomas Benefield of Gulfport, second vice president; Dr. Edna Treuting of New Orleans, secretary; and Dr. Ronald J. French of New Orleans, treasurer.

Elected to serve three-year terms on the association's board of directors were Dr. Frank H. Davis of Lafayette, La.; Dr. William L. Geary of New Orleans; Leon G. Lightsey, Mobile, Ala.; Dr. Robert T. Love, Greenville; Dr. Edward L. Soll of New Orleans; and David C. Willis of New Orleans.

Ed Smith of New Orleans was elected to serve a two-year term on the board.

DOG ALLERGIES

Allergies, such as hay fever, asthma and skin rashes, have been widely recognized and treated in humans for decades. But only in recent years have the same symptoms been associated with discomfort in dogs.

Allergies in dogs show up on the skin as welts and lesions, in the intestinal tract as diarrhea and vomiting, on the head and other parts of the body as hive-like swellings, and in the nasal passages as excessive sneezing and discharge from the eyes.

The causes of these allergic reactions are as varied as the symptoms. Foods, certain insects, vegetation and pollens are a few of the offending agents. So are house dust, floor polish, nylon rugs, chicken feathers, cat hair and tobacco.

Dogs that are allergic to trees, grasses and pollens will have more difficulty during warm weather.

Dietary allergies are some of the most difficult for a veterinarian to treat. Just like humans, many dogs are not able to assimilate all foods.

Some foods may cause colitis, an intestinal inflammation. With other dogs, the simplest deviation from their normal diet will produce chronic diarrhea.

Hypersensitivity to flea bites is another fairly common allergic reaction. A flea bite produces intense itching and, in rare instances, violent scratching, which can result in skin injuries and, possibly, even secondary infections.

Dogs suffering from skin eruptions, such as hives, often have tremendous swelling around the head, particularly around the eyes and mouth, with severe itching. Hives are usually the result of an allergic reaction to an insect bite or bee sting.

Treatment for these allergies should only be attempted by your veterinarian. He will put your pet on an allergy-free diet, testing one food at a time until he pinpoints the source of the allergic response.

In the case of flea bites, an injection with flea antigens, which produce antibodies, can rid the dog of his sensitivity to fleas, although it will not destroy or banish the fleas.

And in the case of hives, your veterinarian may prescribe an antihistamine plus cold packs to relieve the itchiness.

White and light-colored dogs seem to be especially susceptible to skin allergies. French poodles, Maltese dogs, setters, wire-haired terriers and Dalmatians are most prone.

The initial symptom is itching skin with redness and inflammation. Scaliness follows, and the hair starts to fall out either from scratching or from dryness, leaving bare patches. In rare instances, the itch-scratch cycle may be so intense that the dog may seriously injure itself. This calls for immediate veterinary care.

OLA student wins local scholarship competition

JULIE BOUDREAUX

Julie Boudreaux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Boudreaux of Pass Christian, has won the Century III Leaders Scholarship competition at Our Lady's Academy in Bay St. Louis.

This scholarship emphasizes the future concerns of America. Competing students were judged on the basis of leadership abilities, community involvement, and scoring on a current events examination.

Ms. Boudreaux, a senior, is now eligible to compete with other high school seniors throughout Mississippi for two $1,500 scholarships, two $500 scholarships, and also for a $10,000 national scholarship which will be awarded at a conference of state winners in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Two Mississippi winners will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the fourth annual Century III National Leadership Seminar in Williamsburg from March 7-10, 1980, where they will participate in workshops on current issues.

To compete at the state level, Ms. Boudreaux must now write a brief projection outlining what she feels is one of America's future challenges and how it should be handled.

The program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and funded by Shell Oil Company.

Ms. Boudreaux plans to attend college, but is presently undecided in the choice of a career. She is a cheerleader and has been an Alpha Honor Roll student for five years.

She is a member of the following organizations: National Honor Society; Drama Club; Our Lady of the Gulf CYO; Project Do.

When asked what her feeling were when informed by Principal Michael Ryan that she had won the Century III award, Ms. Boudreaux replied, "I was excited, and couldn't believe it. I was happy and felt honored to be chosen the winner."

Runners-up in the competition at the Academy are Ms. Lauri Wood and Ms. Leslie Staehle.

Duo convicted for food stamp abuse

In a continuing effort to eliminate fraud and abuse in the Food Stamp Program, Robert Perry, chief investigator for the Mississippi Department of Public Welfare announced the convictions of two West Bolivar residents for failure to report income to their food stamp office.

Ms. Selina Shavers, Rosedale, pleaded guilty in Justice Court to failure to report employment which resulted in her receiving $630.00 worth of food stamps fraudulently.

Mr. Joe Taylor, Rosedale, also pleaded guilty to receiving $508.00 worth of food stamps fraudulently by not reporting his wife's employment.

On October 15, Judge William Arnold sentenced both Ms. Shavers and Mr. Taylor to a six month suspended jail sentence, pending good behavior, a $9.00 court fee plus full restitution of the food stamp value.

Restitution has been made in both cases.

Dale Weeks, Department of Public Welfare legal investigator, also announced the conviction of Ms. Ola Mae Jenkins, Monroe County, for using an alias to fraudulently obtain $291.00 worth of food stamps in Clay County.

Ms. Jenkins was sentenced in Justice Court to one year in jail with six months suspended, fined $250.00 and excluded from participation in the Food Stamp Program for 24 months.

Following this conviction, Ms. Jenkins was indicted by the Grand Jury for receiving $161.00 worth of food stamps fraudulently in East Chickasaw County. She was sentenced to five months in jail.

Pre-law course offered at USM

The first pre-professional program to be offered on the Gulf Coast by the University of Southern Mississippi will be offered during the winter term.

A program in Pre-Law will be available. Coursework in the new program will be available on a rotating basis at Gulf Park, in Long Beach, Keesler and Jackson County.

The courses will be on the upper division (junior and senior level) and will be coupled with freshman and sophomore classes available from the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College under the Two plus Two program.

"After consultation with law school administrators and practicing attorneys, the University of Southern Mississippi constructed the pre-law emphasis area to assist students preparing for law school," said Jerry Reeves, director of USM's Jackson County Center.

Dr. David Gjestland will be the advisor for the program. "Requirements for admission to law schools vary slightly, and a pre-law student should obtain the entrance requirements from the school of his choice. In general, law schools expect a student to possess a bachelor's degree with a major in a content field," Gjestland said.

According to Gjestland interested students should contact USM-Gulf Coast immediately in order for program planners to have sufficient information to properly develop future course offerings and schedules in the new program. Interested individuals should contact Reeves in Jackson County at 497-3636 or Gjestland at Gulf Park at 864-5533.

Bay Sr. High TIGERS

By RICH ADAMS
Sports Editor

The Bay High Tigers face St. Martin this Friday in their final match of the season, and Bay Head Coach James (Snuffy) Smith said Monday his squad will be shooting for a 5-5 record with a win.

The Tigers have won four games this year under the supervision of Smith, the best season posted in years by the traditionally underdog squad.

"I feel we are capable of moving the ball offensively against them, but I am not so sure our defense can hold the well-balanced offense," Smith said.

"We only had one turn over in last week's game against St. John, and only one in the game before that. We have minimized our offensive turnovers and feel we can play with them," he continued.

"They have reached a peak, a high level of execution on the offense, and are capable of moving the ball on us," Smith said.

The first-year head coach said he is going to open the game with a veer offense, running Quarterback Chuck Benigno and the option against the Yellow Jackets, and has the option of going with Don Ginn as quarterback and moving Benigno to running back.

"The biggest question is whether our defense will be capable of holding the power 'I' offense run by St. Martin," Smith said.

"I feel it will be a tremendous task to stop them from rolling over us," he continued.

"Hopefully we will be able to stop the passing attack. We will need to have the best ballgame of the year to beat St. Martin," he added.

The coach stressed that he wants a 5-5 record for the year, as opposed to a 4-6 season if they should lose Friday's game.

"I feel we are looking at this game as our last shot at an even 5-5 record. Our athletes need to win this game, and they are prepared to play 100 percent," Smith said.

The game begins at 7:30 p.m. at St. Martin.

Goodman makes ring comeback

Joe Louis Goodman, recovering from a torn stomach ligament sustained last month, made a comeback Saturday in Hattiesburg as he defeated Phillip Query of the Oxford Boxing Club.

Goodman, a 24-year-old Olympic hopeful with the Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club, went the distance with Query to win the decision.

"Joe did just great. He was hitting Query with left hooks to the body and right crosses to the head," said Head Coach John Whisenhunt.

Goodman is preparing for a match with Willy (Wild Man) White of the Saucier Boxing Club.

The Saucier head coach wants White and Goodman to fight for the largest trophy ever, standing almost five feet high, according to the BKW coach.

The Saucier coach says he expects the largest crowd ever for this match Nov. 24 at the Saucier High School gym.

Dave Stringer of the BKW Club stopped Jess Cory of the Jocks Boxing Club of Jackson, Florida in 23 seconds of the second round in a scheduled three round bout.

"Dave, a native of Bay St. Louis, was happy when the referee stopped the match after a hard right blow which left Cory dazed and defenseless," Whisenhunt said.

The bout was Stringer's first following three weeks of training at the BKW Club gym in the rear of the Disabled American Veteran building on Main Street.

Todd Rooks went all the way in a three-round bout, but lost the decision by a narrow margin.

He opposed Fred Williams of the Jackson Boxing Club.

Attending the bout but unable to get a match were Nicky Slade, Nolan (Spider Man) Vince, and Dwayne Allemen.

The 13 man BKW team will attend a bout at the International Plaza in Biloxi Saturday.

VCJ Tourney deadline is Nov. 20

The Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church's Fourth Annual Semi-Pro Double Elimination Basketball Tournament will be conducted Nov. 24 and 25 and Dec. 2 and 9 in the VCJ gymnasium in Bay St. Louis.

First through sixth place trophies will be awarded, according to Tournament Coordinator Willy (Zeke) Bradley.

Plaques will be awarded for best defensive and offensive player, best all-around player, outstanding rebounder, and sportsmanship, Bradley said.

A $40 entry fee will be required for each team. Deadline for registration is Tuesday, Nov. 20.

For information call Bradley at 467-6611 during the day or 467-8043 in the evening.

Boxing Club slates local match Dec. 1

The Bay-Kiln-Waveland Boxing Club will host its first match in the Valena C. Jones Gymnasium Dec. 1 featuring a 29 bout card.

Boxers from 40 pounds to heavyweight will be conducted at the meet.

Frank Schuffert of Schuffert Pontiac has donated trophies for the meet.

Bay-Waveland soccer teams complete fourth pre-season week

It was feast or famine for local soccer teams this weekend as they met competition in Gulfport during the fourth week of pre-season play.

Trey Kidd led a school of Mulletts to an overwhelming victory as he scored seven of his team's eight goals in an overwhelming 8-0 shutout of the Spiders.

Heidi Hitt netted the other goal as the Mulletts finally posted a win following three successive ties.

It was both victory and defeat for the Golden Eagles as they met two opponents in three days.

In a game which was rescheduled and played Thursday the Eagles came out on the short end of a 3-0 shut out.

Laura Daman turned in another fine performance at fullback, as did Dave Pitalo, and Doug Gleber and Eric Marks did a fine job at the halfback position.

The Eagles turned the tables Saturday as they posted a 6-0 win with almost every team member having a hand-or foot-in the scoring.

Frank Daman netted five of the goals with an assist on each score.

Jody Compretta scored the remaining on a long pass with an assist by Matt Johns.

"Robert Compretta was the star of both games," commented Head Coach Hank Daman.

"In the Thursday game we were just overwhelmed, but more than anything else he kept the score from getting any higher with a number of fine stops in goal," he continued.

"On Saturday he was the key to our defense as he shut off the other teams' attack," he added.

The Raiders also tasted a little of feast and famine as they tied the Roadrunners at one goal apiece.

Being down 1-0, Davis Seuzeneau scored the Bay Raiders' only goal on a corner shot.

Micah Necaise played a fine game at the goal, and Mike Vegas with the help of Shannon Maggio, Terry Bourgeois, and Scott Heitzmann, kept pressure on the Roadrunners in the second half with a strong offense.

The Cobras also got a taste of feast as Josh Bowles got the scoring going in their game with an early goal, but famine struck as the Gulfport team scored four goals to hand the Cobras a 4-1 loss.

The Christ Episcopal Raiders, down 3-0 at the half, could not keep the other team from scoring and went down in a 5-0 loss.

At an inside position, Robert Parker, and Ray Monjoyat a wing slot played a good game for the Raiders, who are still looking for their first goal in pre-season competition.

"They were a better team," conceded Head Coach Alex Brown. "They were bigger, faster, and taller."

The under 16 team played "better than last week" according to Head Coach Scotty Thompson, but still went down in defeat by the same score as the week before, 3-0.

Hunt Vegas as goalie played a fine game and kept scoring to a minimum.

After feasting for the first three pre-season matches, the Red Devils were forced to taste some of the famine as they were handed a 5-0 shut out.

Matt Rossetti played a good game in goal to limit the Gulfport team to five goals, and Kenny Sharp provided the little offense which the Red Devils were able to muster.

Tom Walton also played a good game. "But we stunk," said Head Coach John Helmers.

On Saturday, Nov. 17, soccer action returns to Bay St. Louis as three games are slated for the St. Augustine Seminary Field.

In the 9 a.m. game the Cobras and Eagles battle for the under 12 championship of Bay St. Louis.

The Cobras are 2-2 and the Eagles bring a 1-1-2 record into Saturday's game.

The 10:30 a.m. game matches the Bay Raiders with the Christ Episcopal Raiders, and the noon game pits the Red Devils against a Gulfport team.

The public is invited to attend the games free of charge. This will be the final pre-season play, with the regular season beginning in February.

HNC squad honored

The Hancock North Central Hawks were honored with a supper Friday evening by the parents following a game against Poplarville.

Special guests were the coaches and their wives, Superintendent Terry Randolph, and HNC Principal and Mrs.

Thad Haskins.

Local bowlers report standings

The Westsiders Bowling League leaders, Frozen Fires, gave up ground to the Knock Knockers as they dropped three games and the Knock Knockers won three.

Harvey Mitchell rolled a 181 and Merline Mitchell bowled a 191 in the losing effort.

Merline Mitchell also bowled three strikes in a row during the 191 game.

Mike Johnson netted a 206 game for the winning Knockers, and Carolyn Stringer picked up a five-seven split in the winning effort.

Don Blaize of the Spares had a triple and Elmer Thornton picked up a five-eight-split in their effort to win three games for that team.

The team standings remain the same, however, with the Frozen Fires in first, the Tween Us in second, and the Knockers in third.

The race for the first three spots closed considerably with the Knock Knockers winning three, however.

The Late Starters remain at third place, the High Hopes in fourth, and the Spares riding in the cellar.

Six of the area ladies bowled in a women's tournament at Keeler Air Force Base last weekend. Standings from that tournament are pending.

Ladies who bowled in that match are Vicki Plauche, Teresa Carr, Merline Mitchell, Margaret Acavley, Sonny Harp, and Barbara (Pudge) Lecher, according to League President Danny Plauche.

Mullet Bowl slated Tuesday

The Sixth Annual Mullet Bowl, sponsored by the Bay High Booster Club, will feature St. Martin Junior High against Long Beach Junior High in the Tiger Stadium Nov. 20 at 7:30 p.m.

Long Beach completed an 8-0 season this year, winning the Gulf Coast Conference title.

St. Martin won the Pascagoula River Conference, finishing out the regular season 7-2.

This will be the third year the Long Beach mini-Cats have participated in the bowl, and the second year in three years in which St. Martin has participated.

Bay Junior High won the contest last year against Long Beach.

Advance tickets are being sold by the queen contestants, who will be crowned at the game.

SBA disaster loan deadline extended

The deadline for filing Small Business Administration (SBA) physical disaster loans has been extended 30 days beyond the Nov. 13, 1979 cut-off date the SBA announced today.

Residents of the 16 declared and 8 adjacent Mississippi counties who suffered physical property damage or personal property losses as a result of Hurricane Frederic now have until December 13, 1979 to apply for a long-term, low-interest SBA physical disaster loan. The extension refers only to SBA disaster loan programs.

To date, SBA has issued approximately 7,600 applications, of which 2,000, or roughly 25 percent have been returned; a figure local SBA officials say is well below the expected return rate.

Fred Stone, SBA disaster branch manager, feels that many people may be holding their loan applications for a variety of reasons such as waiting for insurance company checks or waiting for a contractor's estimate of structural damage.

"SBA can loan necessary funds for recovery of property, and any insurance compensation will be assigned to SBA up to the amount loaned," Stone said.

Stone added that while SBA does encourage a contractor's estimate of structural damages applicants are allowed to estimate damages without a contractor's assistance if they are unable to obtain one.

If for any reason you are having a problem completing your application or if you have completed your application and you have not turned it in yet, don't hesitate to contact the office in Biloxi at the SBA Disaster Office, 132 East Washington Avenue, Telephone: 374-5820, Monday thru Saturday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

SBA encourages anyone who suffered any physical property damage or personal property loss as a result of Hurricane Frederic to contact the office nearest them. All applications must be returned by December 13, 1979.

Coast Opera Theatre presents 'Parnell'

The Gulf Coast Opera Theatre will premier the romantic Irish opera, "Parnell," tonight and Friday at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi. The opera deals with the life and tragic love affair of Charles Parnell, famed Irish statesman of the late 19th Century.

Mona Bond, who has had many operatic roles in New Orleans, plays the part of Parnell's mistress, Kitty O'Shea. The title role is sung by Chris Machen, New Orleans baritone.

ENTERTAINMENT AT OLE MISS

A play and a symphony will be presented at The University of Mississippi this weekend. "Anne of the Thousand Days" is being performed through Nov. 17 in the Multi-Purpose Room of the Ole Miss Union at 8 p.m. each night. The UM Symphony will present its fall concert Thursday, Nov. 15, featuring three student soloists chosen in auditions last Spring. The 8 p.m. program in Meek Hall Auditorium is free.

The three-act opera was composed by Dr. Laurence Oden of Biloxi with the libretto by Robert McHugh, Gulf Coast newspaper editor. Oden will conduct the 32-piece orchestra, and Hilda Barnes of Biloxi directs the 20-voice chorus.

Stage director is Marco St. John of Ocean Springs, who has had many Hollywood movie and network television dramatic roles.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the door or in Biloxi at Werlein's, Mississippi Music, Gulf Coast Arts Council office and Mary Mahoney's. They may be obtained in Gulfport at Broussards.

St. Monica Guild tops bazaar goal

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A seven hour bazaar, recently sponsored by the St. Monica Guild of Trinity Episcopal Church in Pass Christian raised some $1,050, topping a goal of $1,000.

In addition, to this year's sales, remaining items were donated to the Salvation Army.

Helen Kohl, of Pass Christian, was overall chairman for the two day event this year.

Joe Pilet, of Bay St. Louis and public relations chairman for the group for the last 30 years, considered the event "an outstanding success".

Pilet notes that the reason this year's bazaar was such a success is due to Kohl's fine job as chairman, Fred Kohl's help, the excellent publicity by local news media and the outstanding reputation the event has developed over the years.

Funds raised will be placed in the organization's treasury to be allocated for church, school and other worthy projects.

Mrs. Theo Moore is president of the church organization.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the hours of the regular monthly meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education was changed from 9:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M., effective for the meeting of April 2, 1979 and thereafter. The change of time was officially adopted at the March 17, 1979 recess meeting and reaffirmed at the November 5, 1979 Regular Meeting of the Board of Education.

The time change was adopted by the Board of Education as a result of a court order mandating the change to a time of day that would be more convenient for employees and the general public to attend the meeting.

This the 9th day of November, 1979.

Theosophists sponsor New Age Film Fest**

The Theosophical Society on the Gulf Coast is sponsoring a 'New Age Film Festival' at 7 p.m. Thursday at Biloxi Library and Cultural Center on La Meuse Street. The group is suggesting a $2 donation. Films to be shown include: RADIANCE This film explores the "light" of saints and mystics through an array of nature footage, religious art, video and kinetic images. It is a film inducing quite naturally a state of near meditation. HOLISTIC HEALTH The "new Medicine" is the theme expressed in this film which explores the mind-body relationship and the work of many holistic doctors, demonstrating their techniques for healing, and controlling pain. EVOLUTION OF A YOGI A biographical film illustrating the transformation of Richard Alpert into Ram Dass and his subsequent spiritual teachings where he demonstrates and discussed Hatha Yoga, Raja Yoga, breathing exercises and chanting as important disciplines in the process leading to self realization and liberation. THE LOST YEARS A new film by Richard Bock dealing with the middle period in the life of Jesus Christ. Filmed in India and Europe, it explores the history and legends of Jesus' travels to the East and many aspects of his life and death.

ART OF MEDITATION This is definitely an audience participation film, as everything about it promotes meditation - the sensitive nature photography, the sound track, and the guidance of Alan Watts as he leads us, step by step, in the disciplines of body posture, breath awareness, mantra and concentration; toward the relaxed state of being.

Directory Assistance service is not free. It never has been, although many people seem to think it is. In fact, South Central Bell customers in Mississippi will pay more than $12 million for Directory Assistance service this year. Even though you don't see it itemized on your monthly bill, it is part of the amount you pay for basic telephone service.

Directory Assistance costs have been increasing at an alarming rate in recent years—considerably faster than growth in the number of telephones. These rising costs, in turn, increase the company's cost of providing your basic telephone service.

But, 85 percent of the calls to Directory Assistance in Mississippi are for numbers listed in the telephone directory. This means that 96 million of the estimated 112 million Directory Assistance calls in the state this year could be avoided if everyone were to use the directory. And that would reduce costs substantially.

Directory Assistance costs could be further reduced through a new way of pricing the service. With Directory Assistance Repricing, customers who use the service more would pay more for it.

With repricing, customers could make a certain number of calls to Directory Assistance each month without an additional charge, and they would be billed only if they exceeded this allowance. Persons unable to use a directory—for example, those with physical or visual handicaps—would not have to pay any Directory Assistance charges.

Actual experience in areas where similar plans are in effect shows that each month 90 percent of customers do not have to pay any additional charges. And in Alabama, only 8.6 percent of customers currently are billed for additional Directory Assistance calls each month.

We believe that repricing Directory Assistance would provide a better way for customers to pay the costs of the service. It would require only the heavier users of Directory Assistance to pay more.
